BriefGenius

Brief Genius is a mobile app that lets a user upload their case notes to receive a law school outline for their studies. The app will ask the user if they want to use their personal notes, the default notes or both. The app will then generate the outline based on their selection. If the user selected personal notes, then the user will be prompted to upload their notes. If the user selected default notes, the app will pull the information from the API only. If the user chose both, the app will combine both sources to supply an outline.
